Marathon's TRADESWORKER combines the best of a utility bed with the space and lightness of a FRP High Cube on a single rear wheel cut-away chassis.

The lower steel utility bed portion of the body is weather tight, secured with individual barrel locks and chrome "T" handles.

The upper FRP portion of the body is married to the lower section and the chassis to form one monocot unit.

The lighter weight and straight sides of the upper FRP portion of the body offer advantages over other products being offered in this market segment.

The Marathon TRADESWORKER offers weather tight security at an affordable price to plumbers, electricians and other utility truck body users.
